Plan for Emergencies

Get ZotReady
know what to do ahead of time!

Though zombies may not be a real threat, other types of emergencies certainly are. By starting the conversation now, you can be more prepared — and likely more comfortable — for the next severe storm or other incident.

Steps to plan for an emergency:

• Identify the types of hazards that can affect where you live. Consider how each could disrupt your day-to-day life.

• Consider how you would evacuate buildings you are often in (dorms, classrooms, work). Have at least two routes planned. Additionally, find the safest locations in these buildings in case you need to secure/shelter-in-place.

• Determine where you would go after various disruptive emergencies and how you would contact housemates and family members.

• Plan for your pets too!

QUICK LINKS:

UC Irvine Homepage: uci.edu

Emergency Hotline: 866-IRV-NEWS (866-478-6397)
twitter: twitter.com/uc Irvine • twitter.com/zotready • twitter.com/ucirvinepd facebook: facebook.com/uc Irvine • facebook.com/zotready • facebook.com/ucirvinepd