Our Vision, Mission, and Values at the UCI Police Department are the guiding principles we rely upon to effectively serve our community. As the graphic depicts, our dedicated personnel are the foundation of our department. Our values are demonstrated by their daily service and actions through prevention, intervention, enforcement, and education. Our Mission, “To serve in partnership with our community, supporting a safe and inclusive University,” fully embraces our community oriented policing philosophy and brings that philosophy to reality through partnerships and service. Our vision leads our personnel to strive for only the highest standards of ethics and excellence in all they do.
On November 4, 2008, the People of the State of California approved Proposition 9, the Victims’ Bill of Rights Act of 2008: Marsy’s Law. This measure amended the California Constitution to provide additional rights to victims. This booklet contains specific sections of the Victims’ Bill of Rights and other resources. Crime victims may obtain additional information regarding Marsy’s Law and other victim services available by calling the UCI CARE office at 949-824-7273 or Waymakers at 949-831-9110.

A ‘victim’ is defined under the California Constitution as “a person who suffers direct or threatened physical, psychological, or financial harm as a result of the commission or attempted commission of a crime or delinquent act. The term ‘victim’ also includes the person’s spouse, parents, children, siblings, or guardian, and includes a lawful representative of a crime victim who is a minor, or who is deceased or physically/psychologically incapacitated. The term ‘victim’ does not include a person in custody for an offense, the accused, or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a minor victim.” [California Constitution, Article I, § 28(e)]
In order to preserve and protect a victim’s right to justice and due process, a victim shall be entitled to the following rights:

1. To be treated with fairness and respect for his or her privacy and dignity, and to be free from intimidation, harassment, and abuse, throughout the criminal or juvenile justice process.

2. To be reasonably protected from the defendant and persons acting on behalf of the defendant.

3. To have the safety of the victim and the victim’s family considered in fixing the amount of bail and release conditions for the defendant.

4. To prevent the disclosure of confidential information or records to the defendant, the defendant’s attorney, or any other person acting on behalf of the defendant, which could be used to locate or harass the victim or the victim’s family or which disclose confidential communications made in the course of medical or counseling treatment, or which are otherwise privileged or confidential by law.

5. To refuse an interview, deposition, or discovery request by the defendant, the defendant’s attorney, or any other person acting on behalf of the defendant, and to set reasonable conditions on the conduct of any such interview to which the victim consents.

6. To reasonable notice of and to reasonably confer with the prosecuting agency, upon request, regarding, the arrest of the defendant if known by the prosecutor, the charges filed, the determination whether to extradite the defendant, and, upon request, to be notified of and informed before any pretrial disposition of the case.

7. To reasonable notice of all public proceedings, including delinquency proceedings, upon request, at which the defendant and the prosecutor are entitled to be present and of all parole or other post conviction release proceedings, and to be present at all such proceedings.

8. To be heard, upon request, at any proceeding, including any delinquency proceeding, post-conviction release decision, or any proceeding in which a right of the victim is at issue.

9. To a speedy trial and a prompt and final conclusion of the case and any related post-judgment proceedings.
10. To provide information to a probation department official conducting a pre-sentence investigation concerning the impact of the offense on the victim and the victim’s family and any sentencing recommendations before the sentencing of the defendant.

11. To receive, upon request, the pre-sentence report when available to the defendant, except for those portions made confidential by law.

12. To be informed, upon request, of the conviction, sentence, place and time of incarceration, or other disposition of the defendant, the scheduled release date of the defendant, and the release of or the escape by the defendant from custody.

13. To receive restitution. A. It is the unequivocal intention of the People of the State of California that all persons who suffer losses as a result of criminal activity shall have the right to seek and secure restitution from the persons convicted of the crimes causing the losses they suffer. B. Restitution shall be ordered from the convicted wrongdoer in every case, regardless of the sentence or disposition imposed, in which a crime victim suffers a loss. C. All monetary payments, monies, and property collected from any person who has been ordered to make restitution shall be first applied to pay the amounts ordered as restitution to the victim.

14. To the prompt return of property when no longer needed as evidence.

15. To be informed of all parole procedures, to participate in the parole process, to provide information to the parole authority to be considered before the parole of the offender, and to be notified, upon request, of the parole or other release of the offender.

16. To have the safety of the victim, the victim’s family, and the general public considered before any parole or other post-judgment release decision is made.

17. To be informed of the rights enumerated in paragraphs (1) through (16).

A victim, the retained attorney of the victim, a lawful representative of the victim, or the prosecuting attorney upon request of the victim, may enforce the above rights in any trial or appellate court with jurisdiction over the case as a matter of right. The court shall act promptly on such a request. [California Constitution, Article I, § 28 (c)(1)]
UCI CARE provides free and confidential support services to members of the UCI community impacted by sexual assault, relationship abuse, family violence and/or stalking. UCI CARE aims to end these forms of power-based personal violence by engaging the campus community in education, programming, and transformative action. Programs and service are available to people of all identities and regardless of status.

Advocacy Services
All members of the UCI community have the right to obtain support from a confidential state-certified advocate. Advocates can support individuals through the process of reviewing options, making decisions, and exploring the impact and meaning of a traumatic experience. Advocacy services include but are not limited to: emotional support, providing information about rights and reporting options, accompaniment to interviews with investigators and forensic exams, medical information and referrals, counseling referrals, academic and housing accommodations, assistance with financial support, victims crime compensation, protective orders, and safety planning.

Holistic Healing Transforming Trauma
The mission of UCI CARE’s Holistic Healing program is to create transformative spaces and restorative experiences for members of the UCI community who have been directly or indirectly impacted by interpersonal violence or abuse. These programs are designed to facilitate opportunities for reconnecting to the self and others while addressing the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual effects of traumatic experiences. UCI CARE offers a variety of free and confidential holistic programs informed by research and developed with the needs of diverse communities in mind. Programs may include yoga, group counseling, music, self-care, personal safety and self-defense, downloadable resources, and a free lending library.

A safety plan is a personalized, practical plan that can help you prepare for unexpected or dangerous situations.

If you’re experiencing abuse or are in an unhealthy relationship, you should create a safety plan. Whether you decided to end the relationship or stay, it’s a good idea to empower yourself with the knowledge of your options and resources.

For help in creating a safety plan, contact the CARE office at (949) 824-7273. Sample safety plans for students, staff, or faculty can be located at care.uci.edu/docs/SafetyPlanningGuide.pdf

In partnership with Get Safe USA, the re:Assert Personal Safety and Self-Defense workshops focus on developing awareness, assertiveness, and communication strategies combined with physical techniques to empower participants with increased confidence and self-defense skills.

Domestic violence doesn’t look the same in every relationship because every relationship is different. One factor most abusive relationships have in common is that the abuse partner does many different things to have more power and control over their partners. Below are examples:

- Telling you that you can never do anything right.
- Showing jealousy of your friends and time spent away.
- Keeping you or discouraging you from seeing friends or family members.
- Embarrassing or shaming you with put-downs.
- Controlling every penny spent in the household.
- Taking your money or refusing to give you money for expenses.
- Looking at you or acting in ways that scare you.
- Controlling who you see, where you go, or what you do.
- Preventing you from making your own decisions.
- Telling you that you are a bad parent or threatening to harm or take away your children.
- Preventing you from working or attending school.
- Destroying your property or threatening to hurt or kill your pets.
- Intimidating you with guns, knives, or other weapons.
- Pressuring you to have sex when you don’t want to or do things sexually you’re not comfortable with.
- Pressuring you to use drugs or alcohol.

Victims of domestic violence are often at risk of additional violence for a period of time after the initial criminal act. As a victim of domestic violence, you should consider the information outlined below:

- As a victim of domestic violence, you may request a Temporary Restraining Order that:
  - Restrains the perpetrator from hurting you, your children, pets or other involved family members.
  - Directs the perpetrator to leave the home.
  - Prevents the perpetrator from going to the victims’ home, school, business or place of employment.
  - Awards custody of, or visitation with, a minor child to the victim and protects the child(ren) from the restrained party.
  - Directs child support of minor children and other financial responsibilities.
  - Directs that either or both parties participate in counseling.

- For assistance in obtaining a restraining order or resources, please call 714-935-7956.

- As a victim of domestic violence, you have the right to have an advocate and/or support person of your choice to be present with you during any further interviews as it relates to this crime. You can contact a victim advocate from the CARE office at 949-824-7273.

- A victim advocate can assist you with the process of filing a restraining order, regardless of whether formal charges are filed against the perpetrator.
If your partner physically harms you (including strangulation), threatens you, calls you names, demonstrates jealousy or possessiveness, demeans you in public, keeps you from contacting family or friends, destroys property, or forces you to have sex, then you are in an abusive relationship.

A physical assault committed by a person with whom you have an existing or previous dating or marital relationship is a crime.

As a victim of domestic violence, your name, address and personal identifying information may be kept confidential from the public and offender.

If the perpetrator went to jail, he or she may be released at any time. As one precaution, use the VINE (Victim Information Notification Everyday) program (explained on page 30 of this booklet) as one way to learn when an offender is about to be released or his/her custody status has changed in other ways. The Board of Parole Hearings, California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, or the sheriff will notify victims of crime of the release of those defendants convicted of domestic violence. This notice will occur between 60 days prior to the defendant’s release and never later than the day the defendant is actually released.

The California Victim Compensation Board (CalVCB) can help pay bills and expenses that result from certain violent crimes. Victims of crime who have been injured or threatened with injury may be eligible for help. Please call the CalVCP helpline at 800-777-9229 or e-mail info@victims.ca.gov.

You may request the detective assigned to your case to file a formal complaint with the District Attorney’s Office. Please note that, in the State of California, victims are not responsible for “pressing charges” and the decision to file formal charges will be made by a deputy district attorney.

At sentencing, the court may order restitution to domestic violence victims for all losses and out-of-pocket expenses. These expenses include loss of earnings, medical expenses and the cost of temporary housing. The court can also order the defendant to reimburse private and public agencies for the cost of providing services to the victim as a result of the abuse.

Human Options provides emergency shelter and counseling for victims of domestic violence (24-hour hotline is 877-854-3594). Laura’s House also provides emergency shelter for victims of domestic violence (24-hour hotline is 866-498-1511). You can also contact the national domestic violence hotline at 800-799-SAFE. The hotline counselor can guide you to the service you need.

Remember
No two relationships are the same and these behaviors occur across what we call the “Relationship Spectrum”. If you or someone you know sees the warning signs in their relationship, help is available.

To consult privately and confidentially about any concerns you may have, please call the UCI CARE office at 949-824-7273 to schedule an appointment with an advocate.

Cycle of Abuse

1. Tensions Building
   - Tensions increase, breakdown of communication, victim becomes fearful and feels the need to placate the abuser

2. Incident
   - Verbal, emotional & physical abuse, anger, blaming, arguing, threats, intimidation.

3. Reconciliation
   - Abuser apologizes, gives excuses, blames the victim, denies the abuse occurred, or says it wasn’t as bad as the victim claims

4. Calm
   - Incident is “forgotten”, no abuse is taking place. The “honeymoon” phase
Victims of crime have the right to obtain a protective order. There are four different types of protective orders that are available to victims of crime and witnesses. Protective orders are given to victims of crime when there is a good cause to have concern for their safety. These orders enable a victim to call police if a defendant, also known as the restrained party, gets within a certain distance, usually 100 yards, or tries to contact him or her by phone, e-mail, or mail either personally or through another person. If a defendant violates a protective order he or she may be charged with an additional crime.

Emergency Protective Order
An Emergency Protective Order (EPO) is made at the scene by the police officer who telephones a judge to get consent to issue the EPO. This applies to potential domestic violence, stalking, child abuse, child abduction, and elder abuse crimes. If there is a child victim, a parent or guardian may seek the order on their behalf. Upon permission from the court, the police officer will prepare a written order and provide the victim and the suspect with a copy. The officer will also file the order with the court. Once the EPO is in place, law enforcement must take all reasonable steps to enforce this order. EPOs only last for seven calendar days. If a criminal case is filed at the end of the five-day period covered by the EPO, a Criminal Protective Order (CPO) can be sought from the judge who arraigns the defendant. If a criminal case has not been filed, papers can be filed with the court to obtain a Civil Protective Order.

Criminal Protective Order
A criminal court has the power to issue a Criminal Protective Order (CPO) to protect victims of crime, witnesses, and their immediate family. The court can make this order to prevent a criminal defendant from contacting or intimidating witnesses and victims of crime through e-mail, telephone calls, or other people. The court may also use this power to modify existing protective orders, such as an EPO, issued by the investigating officer. If the defendant is arrested for and charged with a crime involving domestic violence, a special domestic violence prevention order may be issued instead of a CPO.

Domestic Violence Prevention Order
If a victim of domestic violence needs a protective order because a criminal case has not yet been filed or is not going to be filed, the victim can get a Domestic Violence Prevention Order (DVPO) from the family law court. A DVPO is used to help prevent domestic violence. To get a DVPO, a victim of domestic violence must fill out an application at the family law court. These applications are available in multiple languages. Once the application for a DVPO is filed, it will be reviewed by a judge within one to two days. The DVPO can prohibit abuse, exclude a person from a house or apartment, prevent specific types of behavior, and prohibits the abuser from owning, possessing or purchasing a firearm. Additionally, the order may make an initial decision about child custody and visitation. It is also important to remember that a victim of domestic violence may have a support person attend all family law and criminal proceedings, including the hearings for a DVPO, where the victim will be in close proximity to the alleged abuser.
Civil Protective Orders

A victim may wish to obtain a Civil Protective Order if a criminal case has not yet been filed, will not be filed, or if the defendant failed to appear in court and a warrant was issued for his or her arrest. A Civil Protective Order may be obtained by a victim through civil court (Code of Civil Procedure § 527.6). If a criminal case has been filed and a Civil Protective Order is required, the District Attorney’s Office victim services advocate can help the victim fill out the required paperwork for a Civil Protective Order.

Temporary Restraining Orders

Protective orders obtained through civil court have two parts. First, the court issues a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO). This is done without a court appearance by the defendant, also known as the restrained party. After issuing a TRO, the court will set a date for a hearing. At the hearing, both sides can present evidence or information for or against a protective order. If the court grants an order at the hearing, it is called an Order After Hearing (OAH). The OAH is a protective order that lasts for up to three years. Once a protective order is issued, the court clerk will provide the victim, also known as the protected party, with five certified copies of the order. The protected party should keep the copies of these orders for their records.

Firearms Restraining Orders

A firearms restraining order is a court order that prohibits someone from having a gun or ammunition. It can order someone to:

- Not have a gun or ammunition;
- Not buy a gun or ammunition; and
- Turn in any guns and ammunition to the police, sell them to or store them with a licensed gun dealer.

You can ask for a firearms restraining order against a close family member if you are afraid they may hurt themselves, or another person, with a gun. If you are in this situation, it is best to ask the police or other law enforcement to ask for the firearms restraining order. The police can seek a Firearms Emergency Protective Order if someone poses an immediate and present danger of causing personal injury to himself/herself, or to another person. The officer will take the person’s firearms and ammunition while giving them a copy of the order. You should only ask for an order yourself if the police (or other law enforcement agency) will not do it and you are very concerned.

You can obtain information on University no-contact orders because of incidents of discrimination or sex offenses by contacting UCI CARE or OEOD.
Sexual assault is a very serious concern for the UCI community. All UCI police officers are trained in handling incidents of sexual assault and are available to meet with you. Patrol officers, detectives, and other police personnel are trained to respond to sexual assault crimes. We are prepared to conduct a thorough investigation while respecting the dignity and promoting the safety of those who have been impacted by this traumatic event. You can help by considering the following:

- A sexual assault is any non-consensual sexual act against a person. It may also constitute a sexual assault if the act is committed against a person incapacitated by alcohol or drugs, or a person incapacitated by a disability.

- A sexual assault committed by someone you have an existing or previous dating or marital relationship is a crime.

- In addition to notifying the police, you may also choose to call UCI CARE or Waymakers Sexual Assault Victim Services Orange County’s Rape Crisis Center 24-hour hotline at 949-831-9110. If you wish, one of the responding police officers will make the telephone call for you.

- Do not change or wash your clothes, take a shower, bathe, wash your hands, douche, comb your hair, eat, or drink anything. Do not touch, move, destroy, or discard anything where the crime occurred.

- If you can recall any details about your assault, write them down right away. Include details such as time, date, the name of perpetrator, race, age, weight, height, and what the person was wearing.

If a car was involved, write down the make, model, color, and any other information you can remember.

- You have the right to have an advocate and/or support person of your choice accompany you during the interview and medical examination. You can contact an advocate by calling UCI CARE or Waymakers.

- As a victim of sexual assault, you have the following rights:
  - You are not required to participate in the criminal justice system or undergo a medical evidentiary or physical exam in order to keep your rights.
  - You should be provided the telephone or internet website contact information for a nearby rape crisis center and sexual assault counselor that is available 24 hours a day. You can request a confidential sexual assault counselor/victim advocate and at least one other person of your choosing present during any exam or investigative interview while sharing your story. You can request to have a person of the same gender or opposite gender present in the room during any interview.
  - You should be provided information about the types of law enforcement protection available to sexual assault victims, including a temporary protection order and the process to obtain that protection.
You can request the status and results of the analysis of all evidence related to your assault. You should know that evidence related to your assault will be tested, it should be transported to the lab and analyzed within 18 months. You have the right to be informed of the following:

1) Whether or not a DNA profile of your assailant was developed from the evidence;

2) Whether or not the DNA profile of your assailant was entered into law enforcement databases;

3) Whether or not the DNA profile of your assailant matches a DNA profile contained in law enforcement databases.

◊ You can request the law enforcement officer for a tracking or report number and steps to get follow up information; you have the right to request in writing and receive a free copy of the initial crime report related to your assault.

◊ You should know that DNA and other types of evidence can degrade/break down overtime due to exposure to heat, water, and other materials. In general, DNA evidence on the body lasts from 12 hours to 7 days; the evidence to your assault must be kept for 20 years, or for victims under age 18 at the time of the offense, until your 40th birthday.

◊ If your assailant is convicted and required to register as a sex offender, you have the right to request their sex offender registry information from the prosecutor.

◊ You can request information about the state and federal compensation funds for medical and other costs associated with the sexual assault in addition to information on any municipal, state, or federal right to restitution for sexual assault victims if a criminal trial occurs.

Social media runs a significant portion of people’s social lives. We use it to connect with friends, family, co-workers, and announce major events in our lives. With more of our identities taking shape on social media, protecting your personal information on these platforms have become more important than ever.

1. PERSONAL INFORMATION

Avoid sharing too much personal information about yourself over social media. Identity thieves and cyberstalkers can gather information from your personal profile.

2. LOCATION SETTINGS

Many platforms ask you to turn on your location setting, but be wise and disable it, particularly when travelling, to safeguard your safety and privacy.

3. STRONG PASSWORDS

Choose strong passwords. Avoid ones that can be derived from your name or date of birth. Also, avoid using a common password for social media accounts and personal bank accounts.

4. POST RESPONSIBLY

Everything you post online presents a picture of who you are and often it can be difficult to remove posts later. Some posts can even effect future relationships and jobs.

Look out behind you

Before you post that selfie, check to make sure there’s nothing in the area behind you that reveals confidential or sensitive information.

Prune your network

Check your list of connections on a regular basis and flag or block any strangers or anyone that doesn’t have a profile or any content of their own.

Think before you click

Treat links sent across social media with the same caution as a spam email message. Always check with the sender first if you’re suspicious.
Stalking Awareness

Domestic elder abuse generally refers to any of the following types of mistreatment that are committed by someone with whom the elder (age 65 or above) or a dependent, disabled adult (over age 18) has a special relationship (for example, a spouse, sibling, child, friend, or caregiver).

Institutional abuse generally refers to any of the following types of mistreatment occurring in residential facilities (such as a nursing home, assisted living facility, group home, board and care facility, foster home, etc.) and is usually perpetrated by someone with a legal or contractual obligation to provide some element of care or protection.

Elder abuse can affect people of all ethnic backgrounds and social status and can affect both men and women. The following types of abuse are commonly accepted as the major categories of elder mistreatment:

- Physical Abuse: Inflicting, or threatening to inflict, physical pain or injury on a vulnerable elder, or depriving them of a basic need.

- Emotional Abuse: Inflicting mental pain, anguish, or distress on an elder person through verbal or nonverbal acts.

- Sexual Abuse: Non-consensual sexual contact of any kind, or coercing an elder to witness sexual behaviors.

- Exploitation: Illegal taking, misuse, or concealment of funds, property, or assets of a vulnerable elder.

- Neglect: Refusal or failure by those responsible to provide food, shelter, health care, or protection for a vulnerable elder.

- Abandonment: The desertion of a vulnerable elder by anyone who has assumed the responsibility for care or custody of that person.

Although there are distinct types of abuse defined, it is not uncommon for an elder to experience more than one type of mistreatment at the same or different times. For example, a person financially exploiting an elder may also be neglecting to provide appropriate care, food, medication, etc.

Victims of Human Trafficking

Human trafficking is a form of modern slavery where people profit from the control and exploitation of others.

Although slavery is commonly thought to be a thing of the past, human trafficking still exists today throughout the United States and globally when traffickers use force, fraud, or coercion to control other people for the purpose of engaging in commercial sex or forcing them to provide labor services against their will. Traffickers use violence, threats, deception, debt bondage, and other manipulative tactics to trap victims in horrific situations every day in America. All trafficking victims share one essential experience – the loss of freedom.

In the United States, sex trafficking commonly occurs in online escort services, residential brothels, brothels disguised as massage businesses or spas, and in street prostitution. Labor trafficking has been found in domestic servitude situations, as well as sales crews, large farms, restaurants, carnivals, and more.

Victims of Identity Theft

The California Penal Code allows a victim of identity theft to file a crime report and initiate an investigation with the law enforcement agency having jurisdiction over the victim’s residence. If other crimes occurred in Irvine’s jurisdiction an investigator may be assigned the case. If the crime was committed in a different jurisdiction, the matter may be referred to the law enforcement agency with jurisdiction.

If you are a victim of identity theft, you are the only person who can clear your credit report. This booklet provides you with resources you may need, including phone numbers and websites, to help you address identity theft. Use a ledger or a composition notebook to document ALL forms of communication you have with company representatives, creditors, etc. This includes the date and time of phone calls, the names of company representatives with whom you speak, phone numbers, and dates and times you sent or received letters. Once you discover that you are the victim of identity theft, you should take the following immediate steps to prevent further damage:

1. Place an Initial Fraud Alert
   Call one of the three credit reporting companies and ask for an “initial fraud alert” on your credit report. Once you have the alert on your report, businesses are required to verify your identity before it issues credit. Regardless of the company you decide to contact, they are required to contact the other two companies about your alert. The alert lasts for 90 days can be renewed for an additional 90 days if necessary. It also allows you to receive one free copy of your credit report from each of the three credit reporting companies. As a follow-up measure, ask each of the credit reporting companies in writing to:
   - Provide you with a free copy of your credit report on a monthly basis.
   - Remove all inquiries that have been generated because of the fraudulent access.
   - Provide you the names and phone numbers of businesses that have opened the fraudulent accounts.
   - Notify those businesses that have received your credit report in the past six months.

2. Review Your Credit Reports
   After receiving copies of your credit reports, review them carefully. If you know which of your accounts have been tampered with, contact the related businesses. Talk to a representative in the fraud department and follow up with them in writing. Any letters you send should be sent by certified mail with a return receipt request. This ensures a record of your communication.
3. File a Police Report
   California Penal Code § 530.6(a) reads: “A person who has learned or reasonably suspects that his or her personal identifying information has been unlawfully used by another, as described in subdivision (a) of Section 530.5, may initiate a law enforcement investigation by contacting the local law enforcement agency that has jurisdiction over his or her actual residence or place of business.”

4. Create an ID Theft Report and Affidavit
   An Identity Theft Report gives you some important rights that can help you recover from the theft. It also helps you deal with credit reporting companies, debt collectors, and businesses that gave the identity thief credit or opened new accounts in your name. File a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) via:
   - 877-IDTHEFT (877-438-4338)
   - www.ftccomplaintassistant.gov
   - Mail: ID Theft Clearinghouse - Federal Trade Commission 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW Washington DC, 20580

5. Contact all Creditors
   Contact each creditor by phone or in writing with whom your name has been used fraudulently. Obtain replacement credit cards with new account numbers to replace those accounts that have been fraudulently used. Ask each creditor to process the old account as a “closed account at the consumer’s request. A “closed status” is better than processing the card as “lost or stolen,” because the latter may be interpreted by the credit reporting companies as your liability. Carefully monitor your mail and credit card statements for evidence of new fraudulent activity and report all such activity immediately to your credit grantor.

6. Creditor’s Requirements to Verify Fraud
   You may be asked by banks and credit grantors to prepare and notarize fraud affidavits. It is usually not necessary, as a written statement and a copy of the police report should be sufficient.

7. Stolen Checks
   If you have had checks stolen or bank accounts set up fraudulently, report it to the check verification companies. Cancel your checking and/or savings accounts and obtain new account numbers. Give the bank a secret password for your account (not your mother’s maiden name).

8. ATM/Debit/Credit Cards
   If your ATM/Debit/Credit card has been stolen or compromised, obtain a new card, account number, and password or PIN (Personal Identification Number). Do not use your old password. When creating a password or PIN, don’t use common numbers, like the last four digits of your social security number or your birth date.
9. Fraudulent Change of Address
Notify the local Postal Inspector if you suspect an identity thief has filed a change of your address with the post office or has used the mail to commit credit or bank fraud (Call the local Postmaster to obtain the phone number). If possible, determine where fraudulent credit cards were sent. Notify the local Postmaster of that address and forward all mail in your name to your own address. You may also need to talk with the mail carrier.

10. Stolen Mail
If you believe your mail has been stolen, report it immediately to your local Postmaster or nearest Postal Inspector. You will be asked to complete PS Form 2016 (Mail Theft and Vandalism Complaint). Analysis of these forms helps the Postal Inspectors in determining if the theft of your mail is isolated or part of a larger mail theft problem in your neighborhood, and in locating and apprehending mail thieves.

11. Social Security Number Misuse
Contact the Social Security Administration to report fraudulent use of your Social Security Number and request a copy of your earnings and benefits statement to check it for accuracy.

12. Passport Misuse
If you have a passport lost or stolen, notify the passport office in writing to alert them for anyone ordering a new passport fraudulently.

13. Drivers License Number Misuse
You may need to change your driver license number if someone is using yours as identification on fraudulent checks. Contact the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to see if another license was issued in your name. Place a fraud alert on your license. Contact any DMV to request a new number and complete the DMV’s complaint form to begin the fraud investigation, and provide supporting documents with the complaint form to the nearest DMV investigation office.

14. False Civil and Criminal Judgments
Sometimes victims of identity theft are wrongfully accused of crimes committed by the imposter. If a civil judgment has been entered in your name for actions taken by your imposter, contact the court where the judgment was entered and report that you are a victim of identity theft. If you are wrongfully prosecuted in criminal court, contact the State Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

15. Legal Help
You may want to consult an attorney to determine legal action to take against creditors and/or credit bureaus. Call the local Bar Association to find an attorney who specializes in consumer law and the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

Traffic Collisions

California Vehicle Code § 20001 requires drivers involved in traffic collisions to stop at the scene to render aid to injured persons and to identify themselves to the injured party and to the local police. California Vehicle Code § 20002 requires drivers involved in traffic collisions to stop to identify themselves even if the traffic collision caused only property damage.

Auto Insurance

Uninsured motorist coverage is automobile coverage that provides protection in the event of a traffic collision in which the at-fault party does not have insurance or in the event that the at-fault party is never identified. California requires auto insurance companies to provide you with uninsured motorist coverage unless you decline it in writing when you purchase your auto insurance.

One of the best ways to protect yourself from the devastation a hit-and-run offender or uninsured motorist can cause you and your family is through "Uninsured Motorist" or "PIP" coverage on your auto insurance policy. You and passengers in your vehicle who suffer bodily harm may be covered for damages under this coverage of your policy. You may also be covered if you are injured while a pedestrian, cyclist or a passenger in another person's vehicle if the at fault motorist is uninsured or is never identified.

Hit and Run Collisions

The failure to stop and report an accident is a separate serious violation of law in addition to any violation involved in causing the collision. Not only do convicted hit-and-run drivers face criminal charges punishable by enhanced fines and jail time when a traffic collision involves injuries or death, they can also be held liable for civil damages. Monetary compensation may be awarded for things such as medical bills, loss of income, property damage, and pain and suffering. Compensation that exceeds a victim's actual monetary losses may also be awarded to punish hit-and-run offenders. Your own auto insurance may also be a source of compensation for your hit-and-run traffic collision damages.

Employers Can Be Liable for Hit-and-Run Damages

If a driver has been identified and charged with a hit-and-run offense while on the job, not only can the offender be held liable for damages, but also his employer. An employer is generally liable for the damages caused by an employee's wrongful conduct if the employee was acting within the "scope and course" of his or her job when the incident occurred.

Victim Compensation Programs Can Help

You may be entitled to obtain compensation for some of your damages through state victim assistance and compensation programs as a victim of a criminal offense. One such program is Crime Victim Compensation, which can help victims of hit-and-run accidents pay for some of the costs of their recovery, including medical care, lost wages, funeral bills and other expenses. Visit the National Association of Crime Victim Compensation Boards website at: www.NACVCB.org or call 703-780-3200 to learn how to seek financial assistance.
Established by the Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) in 1984, the Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) supports a broad array of programs and services that focus on helping victims in the immediate aftermath of crime and supporting them as they rebuild their lives. Although the specific type of outreach provided varies by need and location, the common goal of OVC and VOCA is to reach out with a compassionate, skilled, and effective response to victims who have suffered physical, sexual, emotional, and financial harm as a result of crime. If you are a victim of crime, OVC’s site has resources to help you.

Victims of crime can use the telephone, internet, or mobile device to search for information regarding their offender’s custody status or register to receive telephone and e-mail notification when their offender’s custody status changes. Through Victim Information & Notification Everyday (VINE).

Register online at vinelink.com or call 877-411-5588
1. When VINE asks, make up and enter a four-digit Personal Identification Number (PIN). Write it on the cover of this booklet. VINE will ask for the PIN when it calls you.
2. When VINE calls, listen to the message, then enter your PIN when asked. Entering the PIN lets VINE know that you got the call, and will stop the service from calling you again.

Information To Know

- The offender will not know you are registering with VINE.
- If you are not home, VINE will leave a message on an answering machine, if there is no answer. VINE will call back until you enter your PIN or until 24 hours have passed.
- Since VINE calls automatically when an offender’s custody status changes, the service may call at any time of the day or night.
- “OC” only applies to persons in Orange County Jails.

- Do not depend only on the VINE service, or any other single program, for your protection. Make VINE a part of your overall safety plan.
- California statute gives victims and/or witnesses of stalking or domestic violence the right to be notified by certified letter as well as by phone. You may also register to receive an advance notification letter, sent by regular mail, to alert you of an offender’s upcoming release. All information provided by VINE will remain confidential.

VINEmobile is the mobile app version of VINE, which allows victims to register for timely and reliable information regarding the custody status of offenders 24-hours a day. Victims and concerned citizens can register to be notified by phone, email, text message (where applicable) or TTY device when an offender’s custody status changes. The app is available through Google Play and the Apple iStore. Visit www.VINElink.com for links to the app.
